

An inspired optimist

Tell us a little about your journey to the Hudson Valley and why you chose to stay here.

I arrived to the Hudson Valley in 2008 to work at a special needs camp. I believe my arrival story is serendipitous, although in short narration its magic might get lost in translation. The first day of my arrival to the USA, to the Rosendale NY bus station to be exact, approximately after 17 hours of exhausting travel, I met a generous

Q&A

Visit the folks next door

local woman who gave me a ride to camp in High Falls, NY. It turned out, she thought I might be a young runaway teenage girl with a large luggage, who was walking towards an under construction bridge. As a nurse specialized in mental health, it's been her immediate instinct to pull aside and offer help. We exchanged contacts. I visited their family gatherings during weekends and we cultivated a wonderful friendship during my three months stay in the country. I came back to work at camp in 2009 while finishing my bachelor's degree in American Studies at Azerbaijan University of Languages. My new friends who became the "American Family" made me aware of my artistic inclinations and suggested I look into arts education at a local college. So I did. While I had the opportunity thanks to my new host family, in 2010 I decided to start my studies at SUNY Ulster toward two associate degrees in fine arts and graphic design, and was awarded the State University of New York Chancellor's Award for Student Excellence in 2012 upon graduation. I also met my life partner here, and stayed because of the life altering opportunities that opened up to me as a young woman artist with hope & vision.

Tell us about your family?

To me family & friends are the source of comfort, tranquility & stability. However, my private family life & circumstances have been rather complicated and difficult due to unforeseen traumatic and painful life events that taught me the value of solitude as an essential component for self-healing, self-reflection and self-reliance. My biological family lives in Baku, Azerbaijan and we keep in touch online. Now, I am mostly obsessed with my pets whose presence and Zen-like attitudes bring much peace & balance to my life.

You are a sculptor & designer, tell us about that?

Post-graduation, I worked as a visual designer for local businesses since 2013, and started observational figurative sculpting from live models at Woodstock School of Art. Eventually, I founded my studio Caspian Muse that allows me to function flexibly as a contractor/freelance creative with various services. During the pandemic, like many people, I went through painful & challenging reality shifts in my design work and personal life that pushed me to focus on my sculptor-iden-

Gülnar Babayeva

Profession: Sculptor & Designer
Age: Thirties
Town: Rosendale

tity. This process helped me tremendously from discovering & embracing solitude to slowly managing the emotional & physical burnout, and initiated a unique journey into self-healing practice through my art. Intuitively self-guidance helped to rediscover my sculptor-self, prioritize her needs & gifts and eventually share them with the world, which was realized into my debut solo exhibition Revival, 2021 at the Arts Society of Kingston.

What inspires you?

I am inspired by classical & contemporary figurative sculpture and high quality design, as well as the nature of our reality and facets of consciousness. I find myself driven by continuous innate attempts to grasp, analyze and accept the variety of realities, perceived as private or collective, real or imaginary. Subjects that captivate my awareness are dreams & consciousness, human/animal & vessel forms, solitude vs. loneliness, healing practices, science-fiction & magic, open spaces and light, music and emotionally bonding experiences. I continuously look for ways to inspect and express those concepts through my artistic exploration and daily life.

What are you currently working on?

I have been intensively preoccupied with preparations for three exhibitions I was creating locally. Although two of them have come to completion recently, a sculpture solo and a duo ceramic vessels exhibit with a fellow artist; the third one, a group exhibition, is currently on view at the Arts Society of Kingston. State of Being, Dec. 7, 2024-Jan. 26, 2025, is the second invitational sculpture exhibition I curated & designed that features 16 Hudson Valley sculptors/artists with diverse approaches to sculpture. I am proud to see how my vision for sculpture as an art form came to life and was received with much appreciation in our creative community. Grateful for all the participating artists and galleries for believing in my creative potential and letting me create the magic that we can all experience! After a much needed rest, I am now preparing for my upcoming sculpture workshops and I look forward to seeing inspired sculpture enthusiasts discover the relaxing and healing capabilities of sculpting and playing with clay in a safe studio environment. For workshop and creative/design collaborations please reach out via my website gulnarbabayeva.com or follow my studio artp Ventures on instagram/facebook @caspiamuse

What other interests do you have?

Since 2020 I have been on a self-guided mission to bring adequate representation for sculpture/sculptors in local galleries and share my love of sculpting with fellow humans. I have created five sculpture exhibitions* starting in 2021, became a volunteer in the arts, joined National Sculpture Society, was elected to a board of directors at a local art organization, have been continually exhibiting my sculpture work in group shows, curated group shows and began offering introductory sculpture workshops in local ceramics studios as part of this initiative. Fortunately, I was awarded the 2022 NYSCA Individual Artist Grant by the New York State Council on the Arts to pursue my artistic vision & mission of cultivating figurative sculpture locally and creating new work, which I recently displayed at the Queen of Rogues gallery, Glenford NY, during my second solo sculpture exhibition. Like an inspired optimist, I even created a Figurative Sculpture Fund with hopes that it will receive much needed support for me to continue doing this salient work. When I am not obsessing over sculpture, I like to write [Musingly], read Rumi poetry, but mostly, I am fond of observing reality, although from outside it might look like I am doing nothing. I love quietly noticing nature, human lives, my pets, while contemplating WHY are we here and most importantly, WHY ON EARTH?!

*Currently on View: STATE OF BEING Second Invitational Sculpture Exhibition Curated by Gülnar Babayeva featuring 16 local Hudson Valley sculptors/artists. Dec. 7, 2024-Jan. 26, 2025 at the Arts Society of Kingston | ASK, Front & Spotlight Galleries, Kingston NY. Recent: Gülnar Babayeva Sculpture: Figurative & Vessel Art [solo exhibition], Nov. 16-Dec. 14, 2024 at Queen of Rogues Gallery, Glenford NY. From Earth to Vessel: Gülnar Babayeva & Kalsang Chomphel, exhibition of ceramic works, Sep. 7-29, 2024 at the Arts Society of Kingston | ASK, Front Gallery, Kingston NY. Past: The OTHER Dimension First Invitational Sculpture Exhibition curated by Gülnar Babayeva, July 9-Aug. 28, 2022 Olive Branch Gallery in Olivebridge, highlighting the works, primarily figurative & representational, by seven Hudson Valley sculptors from the region. Revival Jun 5-27, 2021 [Solo Debut Exhibition] Arts Society of Kingston | ASK, Front & Spotlight Galleries, Kingston NY. BSP

-Compiled by BSP Reporter Jeff Slater

BSP Corrections

On page 1 of the 12/06 issue of the BlueStone Press Barbra Fornal read a letter that she wrote, not her husband, Steve Fornal, wrote.

Come to our office at 4301 Route 209 in Stone Ridge or visit us at www.bluestonepress.net

BlueStone Press

P.O. Box 149
Stone Ridge, NY 12484

Office location
4301 Route 209 South,
Stone Ridge

845-687-4480
bluestonepress845@gmail.com

Submit letters and news tips at www.bluestonepress.net

Publisher

Lori Childers

Editor

Gregory Childers

Assistant Publisher

Thomas Childers

Copy Editor

Jennifer Bossert

Office Manager

Amy Scott

Graphic Artist

Jan Melchoir

Reporters

Ann Belmont
Julia Colombo
Anne Pyburn Craig
Amber Kelly
Chelsea Miller
Jeffrey Slater
Matthew Donohue

Calendar of Events Editor

Donna Cohn Viertel

Columnists

Wally Nichols, Susan Krawitz,
Linda Tantillo, Jodi LaMarco,
Kelly Wright and
Laura Shaine Cunningham

Subscriptions are $53.00 for 1 year (24 issues). You can now subscribe on our website. Additionally, check out the "support tab" on our website for enhanced subscriptions with extra BSP swag!

BlueStone Press is published semi-monthly, 24 times a year by BlueStone Press/Ulster County Press, 4301 Rt. 209, P.O. Box 149, Stone Ridge, NY 12484.

Periodicals Postage rates are paid at Stone Ridge, NY 12484 and additional mailing office.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to BlueStone Press, P.O. Box 149, Stone Ridge, NY 12484-0149.

BlueStone Press is an independent and nonpartisan community newspaper.

REFER A BUSINESS
=To= ADVERTISE
IN THE BSP AND RECEIVE A FREE YEAR OF BSP!

An inspired optimist

Tell us a little about your journey to the Hudson Valley and why you chose to stay here.

I arrived to the Hudson Valley in 2008 to work at a special needs camp. I believe my arrival story is serendipitous, although in short narration its magic might get lost in translation. The first day of my arrival to the USA, to the Rosendale NY bus station to be exact, approximately after 17 hours of exhausting travel, I met a generous

Q&A
Visit the folks next door

local woman who gave me a ride to camp in High Falls, NY. It turned out, she thought I might be a young runaway teenage girl with a large luggage, who was walking towards an under construction bridge. As a nurse specialized in mental health, it's been her immediate instinct to pull aside and offer help. We exchanged contacts. I visited their family gatherings during weekends and we cultivated a wonderful friendship during my three months stay in the country. I came back to work at camp in 2009 while finishing my bachelor's degree in American Studies at Azerbaijan University of Languages. My new friends who became the "American Family" made me aware of my artistic inclinations and suggested I look into arts education at a local college. So I did. While I had the opportunity thanks to my new host family, in 2010 I decided to start my studies at SUNY Ulster toward two associate degrees in fine arts and graphic design, and was awarded the State University of New York Chancellor's Award for Student Excellence in 2012 upon graduation. I also met my life partner here, and stayed because of the life altering opportunities that opened up to me as a young woman artist with hope & vision.

Tell us about your family?

To me family & friends are the source of comfort, tranquility & stability. However, my private family life & circumstances have been rather complicated and difficult due to unforeseen traumatic and painful life events that taught me the value of solitude as an essential component for self-healing, self-reflection and self-reliance. My biological family lives in Baku, Azerbaijan and we keep in touch online. Now, I am mostly obsessed with my pets whose presence and Zen-like attitudes bring much peace & balance to my life.

You are a sculptor & designer, tell us about that?

Post-graduation, I worked as a visual designer for local businesses since 2013, and started observational figurative sculpting from live models at Woodstock School of Art. Eventually, I founded my studio Caspian Muse that allows me to function flexibly as a contractor/freelance creative with various services. During the pandemic, like many people, I went through painful & challenging reality shifts in my design work and personal life that pushed me to focus on my sculptor-iden-

Gülnar Babayeva

Profession: Sculptor & Designer
Age: Thirties
Town: Rosendale

ty. This process helped me tremendously from discovering & embracing solitude to slowly managing the emotional & physical burnout, and initiated a unique journey into self-healing practice through my art. Intuitively self-guidance helped to rediscover my sculptor-self, prioritize her needs & gifts and eventually share them with the world, which was realized into my debut solo exhibition Revival, 2021 at the Arts Society of Kingston.

What inspires you?

I am inspired by classical & contemporary figurative sculpture and high quality design, as well as the nature of our reality and facets of consciousness. I find myself driven by continuous innate attempts to grasp, analyze and accept the variety of realities, perceived as private or collective, real or imaginary. Subjects that captivate my awareness are dreams & consciousness, human/animal & vessel forms, solitude vs. loneliness, healing practices, science-fiction & magic, open spaces and light, music and emotionally bonding experiences. I continuously look for ways to inspect and express those concepts through my artistic exploration and daily life.

What are you currently working on?

I have been intensively preoccupied with preparations for three exhibitions I was creating locally. Although two of them have come to completion recently, a sculpture solo and a duo ceramic vessels exhibit with a fellow artist; the third one, a group exhibition, is currently on view at the Arts Society of Kingston. State of Being, Dec. 7, 2024-Jan. 26, 2025, is the second invitational sculpture exhibition I curated & designed that features 16 Hudson Valley sculptors/artists with diverse approaches to sculpture. I am proud to see how my vision for sculpture as an art form came to life and was received with much appreciation in our creative community. Grateful for all the participating artists and galleries for believing in my creative potential and letting me create the magic that we can all experience! After a much needed rest, I am now preparing for my upcoming sculpture workshops and I look forward to seeing inspired sculpture enthusiasts discover the relaxing and healing capabilities of sculpting and playing with clay in a safe studio environment. For workshop and creative/design collaborations please reach out via my website gulnarbabayeva.com or follow my studio adventures on instagram/face-book @caspianmuse

What other interests do you have?

Since 2020 I have been on a self-guided mission to bring adequate representation for sculpture/sculptors in local galleries and share my love of sculpting with fellow humans. I have created five sculpture exhibitions* starting in 2021, became a volunteer in the arts, joined National Sculpture Society, was elected to a board of directors at a local art organization, have been continually exhibiting my sculpture work in group shows, curated group shows and began offering introductory sculpture workshops in local ceramics studios as part of this initiative. Fortunately, I was awarded the 2022 NYSCA Individual Artist Grant by the New York State Council on the Arts to pursue my artistic vision & mission of cultivating figurative sculpture locally and creating new work, which I recently displayed at the Queen of Rogues gallery, Glenford NY, during my second solo sculpture exhibition. Like an inspired optimist, I even created a Figurative Sculpture Fund with hopes that it will receive much needed support for me to continue doing this salient work. When I am not obsessing over sculpture, I like to write [Musingly], read Rumi poetry, but mostly, I am fond of observing reality, although from outside it might look like I am doing nothing. I love quietly noticing nature, human lives, my pets, while contemplating WHY are we here and most importantly, WHY ON EARTH?!

*Currently on View: STATE OF BEING Second Invitational Sculpture Exhibition Curated by Gülnar Babayeva featuring 16 local Hudson Valley sculptors/artists. Dec. 7, 2024-Jan. 26, 2025 at the Arts Society of Kingston | ASK, Front & Spotlight Galleries, Kingston NY. Recent: Gülnar Babayeva Sculpture: Figurative & Vessel Art [solo exhibition], Nov. 16-Dec. 14, 2024 at Queen of Rogues Gallery, Glenford NY. From Earth to Vessel: Gülnar Babayeva & Kalsang Chomphel, exhibition of ceramic works, Sep. 7-29, 2024 at the Arts Society of Kingston | ASK, Front Gallery, Kingston NY. Past: The OTHER Dimension First Invitational Sculpture Exhibition curated by Gülnar Babayeva, July 9-Aug. 28, 2022 Olive Branch Gallery in Olivebridge, highlighting the works, primarily figurative & representational, by seven Hudson Valley sculptors from the region. Revival Jun 5-27, 2021 [Solo Debut Exhibition] Arts Society of Kingston | ASK, Front & Spotlight Galleries, Kingston NY.

Compiled by BSP Reporter Jeff Slater

BSP Corrections

On page 1 of the 12/06 issue of the BlueStone Press Barbara Fornal read a letter that she wrote, not her husband, Steve Fornal, wrote.

Come to our office at 4301 Route 209 in Stone Ridge or visit us at www.bluestonepress.net

BlueStone Press

P.O. Box 149
Stone Ridge, NY 12484

Office location
4301 Route 209 South,
Stone Ridge

845-687-4480
bluestonepress845@gmail.com

Submit letters and news tips at www.bluestonepress.net

Publisher

Lori Childers

Editor

Gregory Childers

Assistant Publisher

Thomas Childers

Copy Editor

Jennifer Bossert

Office Manager

Amy Scott

Graphic Artist

Jan Melchoir

Reporters

Ann Belmont
Julia Colombo
Anne Pyburn Craig
Amber Kelly
Chelsea Miller
Jeffrey Slater
Matthew Donohue

Calendar of Events Editor

Donna Cohn Viertel

Columnists

Wally Nichols, Susan Krawitz,
Linda Tantillo, Jodi LaMarco,
Kelly Wright and
Laura Shalne Cunningham

Subscriptions are $53.00 for 1 year (24 issues). You can now subscribe on our website. Additionally, check out the "support tab" on our website for enhanced subscriptions with extra BSP swag!

BlueStone Press is published semi-monthly, 24 times a year by BlueStone Press/Ulster County Press, 4301 Rt. 209, P.O. Box 149, Stone Ridge, NY 12484.

Periodicals Postage rates are paid at Stone Ridge, NY 12484 and additional mailing office.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to BlueStone Press, P.O. Box 149, Stone Ridge, NY 12484-0149.

BlueStone Press is an independent and nonpartisan community newspaper.

REFER A BUSINESS
TO ADVERTISE
IN THE BSP RECEIVE A FREE YEAR OF BSP!